CFI | Revision Rhinoplasty

Revision Rhinoplasty is an advanced procedure that requires highly sophisticated training, expert techniques and a deep understanding and appreciation of the delicate intricacies of the nose. Rhinoplasty is one of the most difficult cosmetic procedure in which to achieve a perfect result. Additionally, the nose serves a very important role in the mechanics of breathing. While a dissatisfying outcome in nasal cosmetic surgery is possible even in the most skilled hands, more commonly it comes from the hands of the lesser experienced nasal surgeon.

The surgeons at CFI are internationally recognized experts and hold board certified in facial plastic surgery and otolaryngology (study of the ear, nose and throat). Their specialized paths of training have allowed them to focus their education and medical practice specifically on the nose and face, making them experts on revision rhinoplasty procedures. We work with each patient to ensure their revision will change the way they feel, look and breathe.

We understand that the decision to undergo a revision procedure can often be difficult and emotional and we believe in approaching the procedure as your partner. Your surgeon will work with you to ensure that all of your concerns are discussed and that he clearly understands your goals. Those seeking revision surgery need to be advised honestly about what they can expect. The extensive training and specialized knowledge of the nose allow CFI surgeons to repair the breathing mechanisms while correcting and enhancing the appearance. Their unique understanding of facial angles and proportions helps create the ideal balance for functional and aesthetic procedures. Your surgeon will work closely with you to ensure a healthy, happy outcome.
